A New Outlook for New England

While GSA has experience with Electronics in other territories such as New Jersey and New York, this is a new horizon for New England. New England is home to many amazing Tech companies and startups. Woop, Boston Dynamics, Iwaki, Bose and many more.

This is a chance for GSA to help bring a greater range of support throughout the region and help bring awareness to amazing manufacturing companies that have partnered with us. GSA has been helping New England for years and now we can expand their outreach to help not only the electronics market but the automation and industrial market.
